The Caravan, Camping & Motorhome Show: an important date for fans seeking adventure and freedom

The Caravan, Camping & Motorhome Show heralds the new year in the leisure vehicle and travel industry, taking place from 23-28 February 2016 at the Birmingham NEC. The show is an opportunity to peruse and explore products from leading brands in the industry such as Swift, Lunar, Elddis, Adria, Vango, Trigano, Bailey and Coachman, to name a few.

Famous faces such as TV personality and chef Aldo Zilli, who will be cooking a 'Sunday Roast on the BBQ', TV and radio star Matt Baker, and TV presenter and President of The Camping and Caravanning Club, Julia Bradbury are just a few of the celebrities appearing at the show.

Other attractions include a themed activity area supported by the Woodland Trust with an opportunity for children to become Nature Detectives, sessions with industry experts at the Discovery Theatre and, back by popular demand, the Dog Agility Arena. Also displayed at the show will be the exclusive Guinness World Record life-size LEGO® brick caravan and new this year, the Glamping Village, brought to you by 'Visit Pembrokeshire', where you can plan that next luxury weekend away.

With more than 350 exhibitor stands displaying the latest caravan, motorhome, tent and accessory offerings, visitors will be treated to exclusive deals as well as motorhome-manoeuving and complimentary caravan-towing lessons from the show's official tow-car partner Hyundai and brand ambassador Andy Torbet.

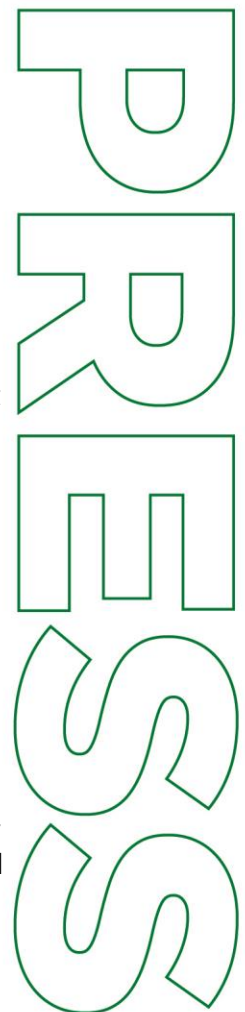

The show is organised by NCC Events (a wholly-owned subsidiary of the industry trade body National Caravan Council) and is supported by The Caravan Club and The Camping and Caravanning Club.
